

Enterprise Portfolio Management Tools

Introduction

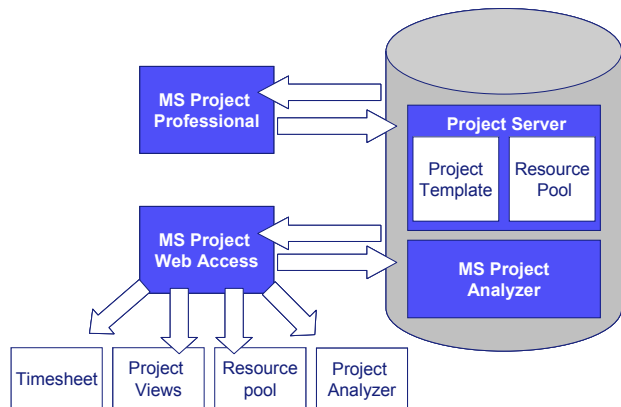

Successfully tracking and managing time and budgets on individual projects, programs or your overall portfolio of projects has been a cumbersome and challenging process for many organizations. At KLR we have tried numerous manual and automated approaches to solving these challenges. After careful review KLR has chosen Microsoft Project Server as one the best tools for automating these critical processes. Our expertise can help you implement this new tool, structure your project management processes to maximize ROI and transfer knowledge to your staff for on-going operations.

KLR Project Management Approach

Project and portfolio management is the cornerstone of KLR's practice. Our PM methodology is based on doing the basic project management fundamentals extremely well. We apply this same approach using Microsoft Project Server Enterprise to help you better manage and control your portfolio of projects.

KLR's Enterprise Portfolio Management Solution

Project Server is an enterprise class product. It is designed to function in conjunction with an existing technological infrastructure. It can utilize information from existing time sheet software, expense systems or directories of employees. Project Server can also provide OLAP information to existing business intelligence tools. KLR provides the technical expertise and experience to assist our clients with the integration of Project Server with their existing IT infrastructure.

Customization

Project Server is a malleable software product. As a Microsoft Certified Partner, KLR has the know-how necessary to make Project Server's views, reports and collaborative functions exactly fit your project management needs.
